

New England HOME

Good as Gold

ROOMS THAT GLOW

Innovative Trends for the Future of Home Design

Virtual Event

What's next for home design? What does 2021 have in store for design professionals in Connecticut? A November webinar hosted by New England Home Connecticut and moderated by Tyra Dellacroce of Connecticut Stone answered these questions and more during an in-depth discussion. The panelists, including Arnold Karp, Robin Kencel, Jeff Kaufman, Beth Krupa (the new president of the Connecticut chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers), Chris Barre, and Tara Vincenta, shared their predictions for the new year. In case you missed the live event, you can catch the full discussion online at nehomemag.com/innovative-trends-for-the-future-of-home-design/.

Tyra Dellacroce of Connecticut Stone

Robin Kencel of The Robin Kencel Group

Arnold Karp of Karp Associates

Beth Krupa of Beth Krupa Interiors

Tara Vincenta of Artemis Landscape Architects

Jeff Kaufman of JMKA Architects

Chris Barre of Smarthome and Theater Systems

Elizabeth Aiken and Charles Hilton

Classic Greenwich Houses by Charles Hilton

Charles Hilton Book Signing

In October, Rhonda Eleish and Edie van Breems hosted an intimate gathering in their Westport shop, Eleish Van Breems Home, to celebrate the launch of architect Charles Hilton's book, Classic Greenwich Houses. The 240-page book features nine homes designed by Charles Hilton Architects. The book also showcases the work of Connecticut designers Amy Andrews, Isabelle Vanneck, Christina Lake, and the late Jane Gleason as well as celebrated New York designer Miles Redd.

Amy Andrews, Christina Lake, and Karen Bow

Rhonda Eleish (left) and Edie van Breems with Charles Hilton

Photography courtesy of Charles Hilton Architects